RECORD BREAKING MEET IS OPINION OF CHAIRMAN POPE

Ticket Sales Satisfactory to Assure Financial Success.

INFORMATION BOOTH

Students Will Wear Badges Indicating Home Counties.

Walter L. Pope, chairman of the interscholastic committee, expects this year's track meet to far outstrip that of any other year so far. There are 80 more contestants entered than last year. The ticket sales down town are very satisfactory and financial success is assured. The recent rain has put the track in an excellent condition and it is expected that many records will be broken.

The central Prospective Students' committee will maintain an information booth during track meet to aid visitors. This booth will be in the north end of Main Hall in the office of Dean R. H. Jesse, Jr.

The students of the University will be supplied with badges indicating their county. Visitors will be supplied with guest badges. These badges will aid students and visitors in becoming acquainted.

Two hundred thirty-eight athletes, 33 girl declaimers, 13 boy declaimers and eight debaters are entered. The girls and debaters are entered. The girls and their chaperones will live at private homes and will eat at Craig hall. The men will be cared for at the hotels.

Kaimin Daily During Track

The Kaimin staff will put out extra editions of the University paper on Wednesday and Thursday. This decision was reached Monday morning in the Journalism building and it will be entirely through the extra effort on the part of the journalism students that the paper will appear.

Reporters will be assigned to each event which takes place during the meet and a full account of everything will be published daily. The Thursday and Friday editions will appear on the campus between 6 and 7 o'clock in the evening.

University students will get better value for their money and a boost for their college paper by patronizing the advertisers who have made the Kaimin possible.

MONTANA WAR DEAD TO BE HONORED BY UNIVERSITY TODAY

Memorial Exercises for College Heroes of World Conflict This Afternoon.

COOK FIRST CASUALTY

Yellow Pine, Montana State Tree, Chosen as Honor Emblem.

Exercises to be held in connection with the planting of memorial trees this afternoon at 4 o'clock by students and faculty members will be centered around the tree planted in memory of Marcus Cook, the first Montana student to lose his life in the war. Professor W. L. Pope will deliver the memorial talk. Everything is in readiness for the occasion. The digging of the pits has been going on for the past few days and wooden frames have been built to protect the young trees. Small T-boards bearing the names of the men in whose memory the trees will be planted will be placed near the trees until such a time when bronze tablets already selected by the University, can be obtained.

The American Forestry association has offered to furnish the forestry school with metal shields to be used for memorial purposes. The shields can be had on application and it is the intention of the school to make a request for the number necessary to mark the trees planted in memory of the eight forestry students who have died while in the service. However these are to be temporary and will be substituted later by the prescribed bronze tablets adopted by the University. The names of the forestry men will be recorded with the description of the places where the trees are planted and the variety of tree that is planted.

MONTANA SENATOR TELLS STUDENTS LEAGUE IS A STEP TOWARD PEACE

PROMOTIONS ARE MADE IN R. O. T. C. COMPANY

Give Exhibition Drill for the Student Visitor's Benefit.

Several promotions among the cadets of Company B were announced by Lieutenant Colonel Gillem in General Order No. 7, posted Monday morning.

Guy Mooney was promoted from first sergeant to lieutenant to take the position left vacant by the withdrawal of Hans Hansen from the university. Lloyd MacRae was appointed first sergeant in Mooney's old position and Corporal John Toole was assigned to the cadet-sergeantcy vacated by MacRae. Lester Grill took Toole's place as corporal.

"The R. O. T. C. will put on exhibition drills during track week for the benefit of the visiting high school students," says Lieutenant Colonel Gillem. The cadets have finished cleaning up their new Enfield rifles and these should materially improve the appearance of the corps.

ANNUAL STUDENT ELECTION SO FAR IS UNINTERESTING

All Petitions Must Be in the Hands of Secretary by May 21.

The coming A. S. U. M. election is causing but little excitement among the campus politicians, so the petitions filed with Virginia McAuliffe, A. S. U. M. secretary, signify. To date but one petition has been turned in, that of Elva Burt for vice president. All petitions must be in the hands of the secretary by Wednesday, May 21. All candidates will speak at a student convocation Thursday, May 22. The primary election will be May 20 and the finals on May 22.

JOHN PATTERSON, EX-MANAGER, BACK FROM OVERSEAS SERVICE

Enlisted With Twentieth Engineers Two Years Ago at Missoula.

John Patterson, ex-'18, one of the best managers the A. S. U. M. has ever had, arrived in Missoula after an absence of two years. At the outbreak of the war Patterson enlisted. He landed in France in March, 1918, with the 20th engineers. His headquarters were at Dax until March, 1919, when his regiment sailed for home. Patterson landed in New York April 17, and was sent to Camp Upton and later received his discharge at Fort D. A. Russell. Patterson says that he is going to take up fishing for an occupation for a while and try to get back into his old time form. He is a charter member of the Delta Rho fraternity.

Explains How Compact Will Aid in Preventing Future Conflicts

WORLD IS UNSETTLED

"While this world war has been awful, the next war, if there should be one, will be much greater in the loss of life, and in misery as the present war has surpassed others," said Senator Thomas J. Walsh yesterday afternoon, when he addressed the students of the University in behalf of the league of nations. Senator Walsh was introduced by President Sisson.

"The time has come when it would not be entirely impossible for a flying machine to leave Paris and destroy some great city like New York. Our debt alone in the war is more than all the material expenses that we had before the war began. There has been a general desire as a result of the war that some system be adopted to prevent each nation from arming itself to the limits.

"There are certain features of the league of nations that shall bind the different nations to consider one another. For example, one nation cannot openly declare war upon another nation without first having submitted the questions to arbitration. Any nation who would declare war on another before first bringing the difficulties up for arbitration would be recognized as outlaws. All nations would go to the assistance of the attacked nation.

Since the middle of the last century, plans for a league of nations have been under way. Now, all of the brightest men of the country have met to discuss peace plans. Many of our greatest statesmen have given this league movement encouragement. Roosevelt was awarded the peace prize, and in 1910 said, 'It would be a master stroke of the world if the nations could form a peace pact.' Senator Lodge said also that 'in search of small Utopias, great discoveries have been made.'

There are three special features in the league of nations, Mr. Walsh went on to say. These are articles 10, 12, 15 and 16.

Each nation will depend upon the integrity of the others. All nations will go to the help of the nation attacked, that is, as far as the external nations go. That is, for example, Japan could not go and lay claim to Siberia, but Siberia herself could revolt against the rule of Russia. This is one of the objections to the league of nations—the idea of internal revolts which might lead to the establishment of several small nations.

Had Germany known that if she entered Belgium or France without having presented her troubles to arbitration, that all nations would have risen up against her, she would never have started this present war.

The constitution provides that all treaties be made by the president with the help of the house and senate. Thus some say the league of nations is unconstitutional.

But considering the league of nations as a whole, it is the only thing. As Alexander Hamilton said in one of his addresses, "We should get the best we can and what we need. In this way, the league should be regarded."

THE FRESHMAN LIFE OF CLARICE
Chapter XVII.

Our Heró had been to Washington State college with the ball team and his experiences were many while the thrills were few. W. S. C. is truly an institution of higher learning. It took Clarice twenty minutes to reach the main hall. Boy, it sure was some climb. The letter "W" adorned the two tall towers on the campus and the boys told Clarice it stood for water as the state had been dry for many months. The expense account had milk shakes on it and Montana is not an Aggie school either. The scenery was wonderful. You could look to the right and to the left and see nothing. After the last game, which Washington won because they were good track men, the team decided to visit the Sisters. At the Theta house Fries was the only man who felt at home. When the team arrived home they were met by an enthusiastic student body. The three of them greeted the Bruin nine.

When the country goes dry how can water become tanked?

A paper, the Incinerator, was published at the Press Club banquet. It was very well done.

As Mr. J. M. Kennedy says, "News-paper editors may mold public opinion but they do not necessarily belong to the molders' union."

We just heard from Rocks and he told us that a farmer in Washington has his barn filled with prohibition literature and the cows ate it and went dry. (Don't stike us break Rocks.)

Now that the state has gone dry of what use are the lamp posts on the campus?

We see where the Washington crew defeated Stanford and California. We wonder if this was another shell game.

The making of dry humor causes the brow to get wet.

Unfortunates Hold
Grapicide Banquet
to Celebrate Jilt

"Bryan and war are responsible for this," groaned Harry Griffin, as he gazed down the long table of his second annual Grapicide. And from the 30 unhappy ones came no answer save the grim yodeling of their soup.

Unheeded, at the end of the banquet table, Charlie Morrow continued to ask grace. At the other end of the festive board, Toastmaster "Gussie" Scherck poured his opinion of Pullman into the deaf ears of his neighbors.

They were the unfortunates whom the co-eds hadn't asked to their annual formal, and in response to University tradition, they met at the Shapard hotel, Friday night to drown their sorrows in the juice that Bryan made popular. And when they found that only water was going to flow, some of them couldn't conceal their disappointment. But as the soup was being carried away, "Bill" Kane and his cohorts made their way into the banquet hall. "Bill" made a speech. He made several of them. And when he had finished there was loud and enthusiastic applause.

Toasts took the form of confessions of just why the forgotten were forced to attend the orgy. But when one member, under oath, said that he had received a number of bids but had been forced to turn them all down, in order that his popularity, might not be destroyed by any show of partiality, the banqueters threw him out. And in disgust, they quit the hall in a body.

Some of them claimed dates at the Greenough park pavilion. Others were less specific in their choice of a destination.

"This may be a tradition," said "Gussie," "but I'm going to begin right now to work for my bid to next year's formal."

It was the end of the first dance of the evening. Girls were rushing madly from one end of the gym. to the other.

"I promised this dance to someone last night and I can't think who it was," one harassed girl giggled hysterically to another going in the opposite direction.

"Girls, what do you think? John's started crabbing already. I told him I was going to do just like he always did and dance with the ones I wanted."

"Serves him right. Boys are the most impolite things I ever saw," sympathized another.

"Well," came in masculine tones, "it do is sit around and enjoy ourselves. I guess you girls won't get so mad after this when we get a dance mixed, will you?"

STUDENTS WILL PAY FINE FOR FOUR VARSITY MEN

Collection Will Be Taken at
S. O. S. Meeting Friday Night.

The sequel to the Pantages affair of last Thursday night came yesterday when four University men, against whom no evidence was obtained for disturbing the peace by throwing fruit and vegetables agreed to plead guilty. The city officials said they had no evidence on the men but that if these four did not plead guilty, evidence would be made to convict some University student. In order not to prolong the case the four paid their fines.

As long as they were not the only ones involved the other University students will pay the fine. A collection will be taken at S. O. S. Friday night and at this time anyone who desires may contribute.

Lessons in French Journalism Method

"I'm here this morning? Is that news?" snapped a student assistant when she was asked by a cub reporter if there was any Monday morning news from the gym.

"But I've got to have something. I can't go back to class without a story. Isn't there any baseball, track or anything?" wailed the member of the eight o'clock journalism class.

"Absolutely nothing," and the student assistant rubbed the sleep out of her eyes and gave her opinion of 8 o'clock classes in general.

The reporter moved on, scanning the empty campus hopefully but of no avail. She knocked on classroom doors only to hear empty, reverberating sounds. She read all last week's notices on the bulletin board and with a hopeless gesture started back towards the journalism shack. On the way she met another reporter.

"Did you get anything?"
"Yes, two personals. I'll give you one if you'll do my French."

FLOWERS FOR MRS. WILSON AT CRAIG HALL MOTHER'S DAY

Mother to 70 girls, Mrs. Wilson, house mother at Craig hall, smiled happily yesterday. The reason was the flowers in her sitting room. The dorm girls were not the only ones that remembered her on Mothers' day. Other organizations on the campus sent her flowers and her room was transformed into a bower. Mrs. Wilson spells mother to many a lonely girl in the University.

In college, Simpkins, a member of Sigma Nu fraternity, was three years an "M" man in football and was A. S. U. M. manager in the spring of 1917. His brother, Lieutenant Claude Simpkins, '16, was killed in action in France last October. His sister, Mabel, is a freshman at the University this year.

Roasters Roasted at Gridiron Feast Saturday Night

Students, faculty and friends of the journalism department met at the first annual gridiron banquet of the Press club in the Florence hotel Friday evening. Speeches and skits were the feature of the entertainment.

Senator J. M. Kennedy gave a short talk on college spirit and the meaning of college loyalty. He expressed the opinion that college students are sure to amuse themselves and that they are none the less good students and students because of it.

French Ferguson, editor of the Missoula Sentinel, "Dud" Richards and H. M. Jones also were guests of the Press club. The last named made short talks. One end of the banquet hall was fitted up as the Kaimin office and a skit on getting out the Kaimin was held.

Short speeches were given by George Scherck, Vivian Bruneau and Professor R. D. Casey. Professor Casey spoke of the need for more intensive work for the field of journalism and expressed his belief that such work would benefit the department.

The banquet and program were arranged to copy the gridiron dinner of the Washington, D. C., Press club. Entertainment was given between the courses of the banquet and everyone present was "panned." Sadie Erickson, as city editor, sat at the head of the table. Dean A. L. Stone acted as toastmaster.

During the evening a copy of the Incinerator, a lively pro-university paper, appeared. "Bolsheviki" articles featured the issue.

The Very Latest
Waist-seam
Models

They are all that we say and certain to be just what you young fellows want. Waist-seam models single and double breasted—class and pep in every line—the sort of clothes that make a young fellow stand erect and throw out his chest.

Rich all-wool fabrics—a lot of blue serges among them—and at prices that are remarkably low for quality.

You couldn't find a better way to dress up than in one of these new models. Some have the welt waist-seam; others rows of stitching at the waist and on collars and cuffs. All the new pockets; some silk piped.

Satisfaction guaranteed—quality, fit, value

NIFTY NEW FURNISHINGS

Latest things in shirts—silks and other fabrics; neckwear as "loud" or as modest as you wish; silk socks, to please every taste; caps—styles and patterns you can't find anywhere else; soft collars, belts gloves—everything.
